A Mate in Trouble.

George Fish, a mate on the St. Lawrence, while wandering about Cincinnati last Sunday night, got into a difficulty of some kind, and had his face slashed open with a razor. He was found on the street in a drunken condition, and very weak from loss of blood. A physician dressed his wound, after which he was able to reach his boat. He refused to tell how he got the cut. He is about thirty-seven years old and hails from Vanceburg. He was formerly a mate on the Handy No. 2. In speaking of the matter the Enquirer says: "Fish told several different stories. He stated that he had been standing near the corner of Green and Race streets talking with a stranger, when, without any cause, the stranger drew a knife and slashed him. The true story, no doubt, came later. Fish was near the corner of Fifth and Vine streets, he said, walking down Fifth. A woman was in front of him. He accidentally stepped upon her dress, and while apologizing they became friends. They walked up Race street, and, as near as could be got at, entered a saloon some place in the locality of Fifteenth and Race streets. There some beer was drank. While thus pleasantly engaged a man—presumably the woman's husband—entered the place. A scene followed and a fight, during which the cutting was done, the woman and man escaping, leaving Fish to manage the best he could."

She Knew the Kackie.

A special from Flemingsburg says a case was running as a serial in the Police Court all last week which netted a snug amount in fees and materially increased the school fund of that district, and it had its origin in the ownership of an egg. George Berry and Deck Coleman are neighbors, and the latter is the owner of a hen—an ordinary, every day hen. This fowl wandered aimlessly into the Berry cellar, and after a short stay there announced by a triumphant cackle that she had increased the world's visible supply of eggs by one. Mrs. Coleman heard the clucking note of her hen and hurried after the usufruct. She and Mrs. Berry fought, and their husbands fought, and their children fought, and their friends fought, and they have been hiring lawyers and paying fines all the past week. Nothing has been settled yet as to the ownership of the egg.

A Long While Calling for It.

Some country fellow walked into Heiser's European Hotel yesterday with the remark: "I left a jug of whisky here six years ago. Do you remember anything about it?" Mr. Heiser did not, but calling Frank, the colored porter, asked him if he knew anything about it. Frank has a good memory, and recalled the circumstance at once. "I know what went with the whisky," said Frank, "but I don't remember what became of the jug." It is presumed Frank doesn't object to a toddy now and then.

Waived Examination.

The examining trial of Charles Willett, who was caught burglarizing Otto's saloon last Thursday night, was called yesterday afternoon before Mayor Pearce. Willett had no attorney and Mr. L. W. Galbraith was appointed to defend him. After a brief consultation, Mr. Galbraith announced that Willett waived examination, and asked that bail be fixed as low as possible. The bond was placed at $200, in default of which the defendant was remanded to jail. Willett likely will be able to furnish the required bail in a few days.

THE country folks were in yesterday in large numbers and the holiday trade was given a boom. The merchants never were better supplied with an elegant stock of Christmas goods, and a careful perusal of the BULLETIN will inform you where bargains can be had.

A SPECIAL from New Richmond, O., says one ton and ten pounds of ore taken from the Bickmore farm, near New Boston, Clermont County, has been smelted by a Cincinnati assayer. It yielded $20 to $22 worth of gold and silver, $16 worth of manganese, $6 worth of iron and 176 pounds of lead.

MISS AGNES HERNDON, who will appear at the opera house next Monday, played a week's engagement at Cincinnati and the Commercial-Gazette says the preliminary statement that she is a beautiful and gifted artist, was fully justified in the opinion of the immense audiences that greeted her during the week.

CALL and see the elegant display of diamonds and ladies' and gent's gold watches, silver tea sets, cuff buttons, for ladies and gentlemen, and scarf pins. With every dollar's worth of goods a chance on a combination ring and stud worth $300, cash paid the winner if preferred, at Hopper & Murphy's. dtf

MASON LODGE No. 342, F. and A. M., elected the following officers for the ensuing term at the meeting last night: W. M.—James H. Salles. S. W.—John W. Alexander. J. W.—William L. Sutherland. Secretary—James K. Lloyd. Treasurer—George H. Heiser. Tyler—E. T. Hancock. S. D.—Dewitt C. Franklin. J. D.—George B. Means.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer says Captain Watt Shedd, of the Maysville packet St. Lawrence, bids fair to become the rival of the United States Snag-boat E. A. Woodruff, from his work at Locust Bar last week, where there was a snag that sunk two steamboats and two coal barges during the summer. In fact, the snag became so well known that all the pilots on the local packets could hit it without any trouble. Captain Shedd got mad, landed his boat alongside of it, hoisted it out of water, cut it up and had breakfast cooked with the chips next morning.

ABOUT eight years ago Ben Dorsey, of Bourbon County, became involved in debt, and he expected to have his fine farm of three hundred acres sold to satisfy his creditors. The misfortune drove him from his home. No one knew where he went, and it was thought he had died. After all these years, spent in Canada and England, he has returned home to find that his mother and sisters had rented out his land, paid off his debts and that he still owns a fine farm. It is a lucky thing for Mr. Dorsey that his mother and sisters had more "get-up-and-git" about them than he exhibited.
